

Going Back

Genre: Coming of Age / Drama

Running Time: 90 minutes

Synopsis

GOING BACK is set in Michigan in 1964 and is an independent feature with all rights available. The story is about two young men just out of high school who leave their suburban neighborhood to take a summer trip into Northern Michigan before starting college in the fall. While hitchhiking, they get picked up by a handyman farmer, Jack Bodell, who lives on a isolated farm. He invites the boys to stay overnight and they end up spending two weeks living in a broken down bunkhouse. During their stay one of the young men grows close to Jack as a father figure while Brice Chapman (played by BRUCE CAMPBELL) has a summer romance with a neighbor girl. Eventually the two boys say goodbye and return home to attend college that fall. The film moves ahead four years to 1968 when the two reunite in a college bar and decide to “GO BACK” and recapture their nostalgia of the summer on Jack’s farm. On returning, things have changed.

Original score and rights purchased to use Beatles music.
